Flashing Speed lights at each end of the village and double yellow lines outside Dyffryn Ig. Reply received advising that they have asked a team to investigate and reply direct to Council.

Parish Churchyard Ownership. Following enquiries with "One Voice Wales" they replied as follows:

It is necessary to get to the bottom of the ownership of the cemetery. Ownership will then need to be formalized through a Solicitor. The Council has a legal power to contribute to the maintenance of a cemetery such as: a. 'Open Spaces Act 1906.' b. 'Local Government Act 1972. 'The Council also need to be careful that any contribution made financially is towards the cemetery only (and not to the Church in particular) their advice is that it is illegal for any Council to support any Church/Chapel through a direct financial donation.

Churchyard Clerk. One Voice Wales advised that there is no legal need to advertise the role of managing the cemetery in public, but it would be good practice that the role be advertised on the website for local people. Chairman & Clerk to draw out a Notice of Vacancy and forward to all Councillors for perusal before putting on the Website and in both Notice Boards. As agreed payment of £20.00 be paid for every funeral.

Public toilets. The Council need to be careful that any contribution made financially is towards the toilets only and not to the Church in particular.
